SEASON PREVIEW

Badgers Ready for Next Challenge

Head Coach Robert Thompson's players won't shut up when they're on the court, but for Thompson, who begins his first season with the Badgers this year, all that yapping is a good thing.

"Our players are communicating better than I believe they ever have," Thompson said in a recent preseason practice session. "When they're on the court, they talk to each other, they encourage each other. They're in tune with each other and they're focused. They're right where they need to be."

That level of communication, a man-to-man strategy and a transition-oriented offense that looks to take advantage of fast-break opportunities is sure to add a spark to what Thompson said should be a spirited season.

"I think our fans are going to see a new level of enthusiasm from this team," Thompson said. "Our players are excited, our coaches are excited.

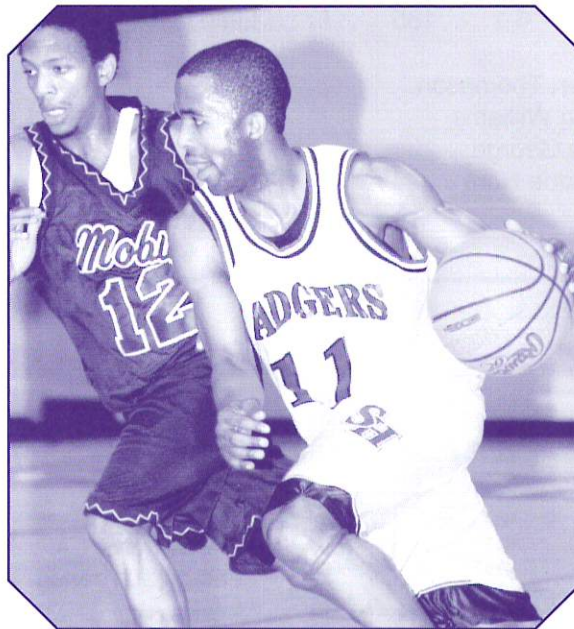

There is a passion that can be felt when we're on the court and I think our fans will experience that."

Spring Hill fans will get their first opportunity to feel that passion when the Badgers open against Wesley College Nov. 1. For Thompson, who spent more than four years at Arkansas Tech as head coach, his first Spring Hill season is an opportunity to write a new chapter in the purple and white history.

Helping him write that chapter are four seniors, one junior, three sophomores and six freshmen—eight of the 14 are new to the Hill. The success of the team should come from the top—seniors Nate Williams, Pierre DuVentre, and Derrick Kibler. Their experience and leadership will help them set the example for the younger players, according to Thompson.

Nate Williams is a 5'11" point guard, from New Orleans, La. who coach Thompson says is a very mature leader. "I know that I can count on him for his vocal leadership on the court," Thompson said. During 2002-2003, Nate played in 31 games, averaging 13.2 points per game, and finished the season with 67 assists and 26 steals.

Pierre DuVentre, a 6'2" guard, from Jackson, Tenn., will have a strong presence on the floor, particularly from the three-point line, where Pierre has an excellent shot. "Pierre is a very athletic player, and his team defense is very good," said Thompson. In the 2002-2003 season, Pierre averaged 8.5 points per game, shot 84% from the free-throw line, and had 26 steals in 24 games.

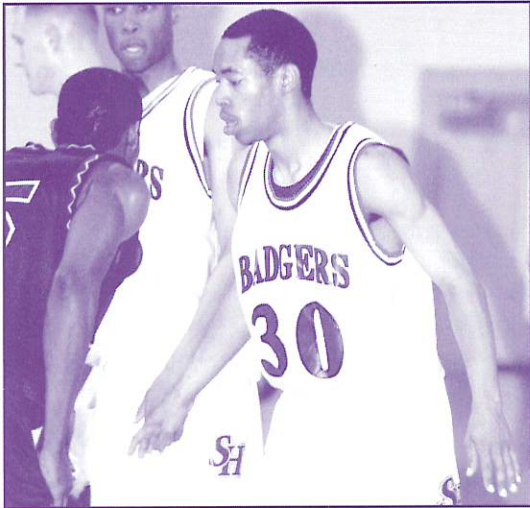

Finally, Derrick Kibler, a 6'1" guard, from Manteca, Calif., will be called on to add his leadership to the mix.

Derrick worked very hard in the off-season and his leadership skills are very strong. Coach Thompson noted, "Derrick is a leader by example, and this will help a lot with our group of freshmen." Derrick had a shorter season last year, only playing in 17 games. But he scored 5.6 points per game and had 33 assists.

Some of the other players returning from last season include senior Matt Forget (center, Lebuscat, France), Gabi Garcia (forward, Miami, Fla.), and Chris Baldwin (forward, Miramar, Fla.).

SEASON PREVIEW

New to the Spring Hill line-up include junior college transfer Josh Matthews, freshman Noah Woolridge, and freshman Lars Honsel. Josh Matthews, a junior guard from Tylertown, Miss., played at Southwest Mississippi Community College the past two seasons. "Josh is a great defender, has nice shooting form, and gets to the basketball very well," Thompson said. Josh's experience at the junior college level has given him a step up in his move to the NAIA.

Noah Woolridge, a 6'6" forward from Slidell, La., will have an immediate impact on the court. His size and ability to shoot from behind the three-point line will help the Badgers a great deal. Noah also handles the ball well and is able to break down a zone defense.

Lars Honsel, a 6'10" center from Kassel, Germany, will bring another big body into the post. As the biggest and strongest player on the team this season, his size and bulk should cause a lot of problems for the opponents. Coach Thompson said, "During the pre-season, he has been able to adjust very well to the American style of basketball, and over time, he will have even stronger skills and knowledge of the game."

Rounding out the Badger roster is Chris Miernicki (6'3", forward, Chicago, Ill.), Wayne Encalardo (5'7", guard, New Orleans, La.), Daniel Forshier (5'10", guard, Mobile, Ala.), Brandon Hanks (6'2", guard, Little Rock, Ark.), and Randy Giveans (5'10", guard, New Orleans, La.).

This season, the Badgers schedule is as strong, if not stronger, than it was in 2002-2003. With the non-conference schedule that includes a renewed rivalry with the University of South Alabama, Thompson said he will have plenty of opportunities to evaluate his team before conference play begins.

"We need to see how we react when the tough times hit," Thompson said. "We've experienced the ups in practice. And while I don't look forward to the tough times, our players are eager to learn. How we react to those down times will make a huge difference this season."

As always, the Gulf Coast Athletic Conference schedule will be a tough one. William Carey College, Xavier University, Tougaloo College, Southern University-New Orleans, and cross-town rival the University of Mobile will again be contenders for the conference title.

"There's a lot of parity in this league," Thompson said. "The road games will be tough. We have to win at home to be successful this year."

INFORMATION

The GCAC

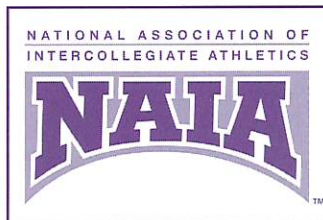

The GCAC first made its appearance in 1981, with Belhaven, College of Jackson, Dillard, Xavier, Louisiana College, Spring Hill, Tougaloo, and William Carey as charter members. Since then, College of Jackson and Louisiana College have left, while Talladega

College has come and gone. Also, Mobile joined in 1985, SUNO in 1995, and LSU-Shreveport in 2000. The GCAC then and now brought together schools with similar standards -- private four-year schools, in the Gulf Coast region, who play in the NAIA.

The GCAC holds conference championships in the sports of women's soccer, men's and women's cross-country, volleyball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's tennis, and men's golf.

The NAIA

Throughout its history, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) has provided strong leadership for all aspects of intercollegiate sports. Since its introduction of intercollegiate championship basketball in 1937, the NAIA has maintained the highest standards while administering first-rate athletics programs.

The NAIA awards student-athletes with awards for academic achievements, awarding juniors and seniors with a 3.5GPA or higher. They give All-American awards for those athletes who excel in competition. The NAIA also recognizes student-athletes, coaches, and schools through the Champions of Character program. The goal of the Champions of Character program is to promote the true spirit of competition through five tenets: respect, integrity, responsibility, servant leadership, and sportsmanship.

There are currently more than 300 schools and more than 47,000 student-athletes competing in one of 13 NAIA regions and 30 NAIA sport conferences. Hundreds of NAIA students are recognized annually as All-American Scholar-Athletes, and thousands more are honored on the conference level. There are 23 NAIA national championships held every year in 13 sports, as well as championships held at the regional, sectional, and conference levels.

This is Spring Hill College

The Spring Hill College community invites you to discover a special place called 'The Hill.' A Jesuit Catholic liberal arts college founded in 1830, Spring Hill is a close knit community where faculty prepare students for life - not just a career.

Because of the small classes, averaging 17 undergraduates per class, the students form close bonds - partnerships with each other as well as with Spring Hill's faculty and staff. The Spring Hill community takes the time and makes the effort to form caring, enduring relationships.

This concern for the individual person, what the Jesuits traditionally have called cura personalis, is a fundamental characteristic of the College community. This personalized care allows each student to develop individually while sharing in the ideals of the Spring Hill community.

Enrollment is about 1,400 undergraduates, 65% women, 18% minority, and 70% from out of state. The campus is located in the heart of Mobile, on 300-acres of greenery, including an 18-hole golf course. There are two 15-week semesters (fall and spring), two 2-week sessions following the spring, and one 6-week summer session. Spring Hill offers a wide variety of undergraduate degrees. They include programs in the areas of: Business &

Management; Communication, Fine & Performing Arts; Nursing; Languages & Literature; Philosophy & Theology; Interdivisional Studies; Social Sciences; Sciences; and Teacher Education.

Residence Halls

As a Spring Hill student, you are provided four-year guaranteed housing in one of nine campus residence halls or apartments. Ninety percent of freshmen and 70% of the total student body live on campus. Each hall has a study lounge, is fully air conditioned and equipped with a coin-operated laundry facility. Each hall has a Resident Assistant (RA) who is an upperclass student selected on the basis of his/her leadership ability and concern for fellow students. A hall director also resides in the hall and supervises the RAs and advises the Hall Council.

Club and Organizations

More than 50 clubs and organizations are available for student involvement outside of class and athletics. Fraternities, sororities, student government, campus ministry, service and social clubs, theatre clubs, student publications, and many other academic and honorary organizations add an important dimension to the complete Spring Hill experience.

Food Service

Aramark Dining Services provides meals in three campus locations. In the Dining Room, breakfast, lunch, and dinner are served on the weekdays, with brunch and dinner on the weekends. The Cloister offers quick meals on the go. The Golf Shop provides a menu of sandwiches, snacks, and beverages.

Show Your Spring Hill Spirit. Join the Badger Club Today!

At Spring Hill College we are proud of our tradition of excellence. Spring Hill has always been a winning force in intercollegiate athletics, and that tradition continues to grow. Loyal Badger fans and supporters are a major part of that tradition. Badger teams and Badger fans are setting the standard for excellence both on and off the field.

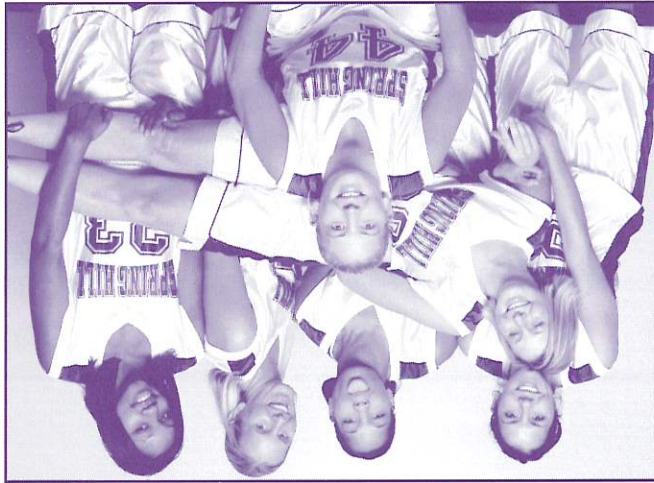

The Badger Club was created to preserve and enhance a heritage that dates back more than 100 years. The Badger Club brings together loyal Spring Hill alumni and friends to provide our student athletes with the opportunity to fulfill lifelong goals of competing in intercollegiate athletics while receiving a quality education.

As a Badger Club member, 100% of your contributions go to the funding of Spring Hill athletics including new equipment, facilities upkeep and team travel (particularly during post-season play, something that is becoming more common each year). We invite you to join the Badger Club and be a part of a winning team. Your membership directly enhances the quality of Spring Hill athletic programs which, for more than 100 years, have been a vital part of the College experience.

"Daniel's contributions to the Lady Badgers are too many to name. He is a rising young coach in the women's game. His ability to communicate and work with players is incredible."

Fowler on Presel:

Presel enters his fifth season on the Lady Badgers' staff. Presel's primary duties include recruiting, post player development, strength and conditioning, scouting, and coordinating team travel. He is very valuable to Fowler due to his familiarity with conference opponents and he is considered an expert in individual player development.

Presel is a 1999 graduate of Spring Hill College, receiving his bachelor's degree in psychology. He is working towards his master's degree at Spring Hill.

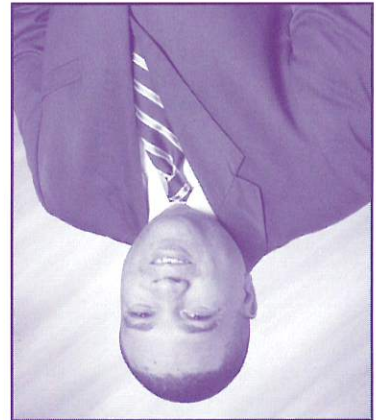

Assistant Coach Dan Presel

A native of Jackson, TN, Fowler earned his Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration from Lane College in 1986 and a Master's Degree in Sports Management from the United States Sports Academy in 1994. As a player at Lane, Fowler was an all-conference and all-scholastic performer. He and his wife, Carolyn, have four children: Megan(14), Geoffrey(12), Morgan (9), and Madison(4).

The 2001-02 season would prove to be a season of firsts for the Lady Badgers. Fowler led the team to the GCAC Conference and Tournament Championships, which earned them a first ever birth to the NAI National Tournament. The Lady Badgers were paced by Honorable Mentioned All-American Jennifer McGinnis and three-time all GCAC guard Lindsey Stuardi to finish with a 23-11 record.

Fowler believes in a "commitment to excellence" both academically and athletically. With the help of mandatory study hall for incoming student-athletes, along with continued guidance throughout their careers, Fowler believes that basketball is just a vehicle to prepare his student-athletes for the rigors of life off the court.

This will begin Fowler's ninth season at Spring Hill. Prior to serving as Head Coach from 1998-2000 he was as an assistant coach for the Lady Badgers for five seasons under former Head Coach James Walker. During his first season as head coach, Fowler directed the Athletic Conference tournament appearance. Despite an overall 8-23 mark in 1998-99, the team went 6-12 in GCAC play.

Terry Fowler begins his fourth season as head coach of the Lady Badgers, his second year of his second stint here. He served as head coach from 1998-2000, then was an assistant at the University of South Alabama from 2000-2002. Last season, Fowler led the Lady Badgers to a very respectable 16-14 record, and a 11-5 record in the GCAC.

SEASON PREVIEW

"She runs the show when she's on the court," Fowler said. "She's the glue that holds this team together. On top of that, she's bigger and stronger this year."

Led by Tillee, the Lady Badgers' depth at the guard position gives the team the ability to show their opponents a variety of different offensive and defensive looks throughout a game and the season.

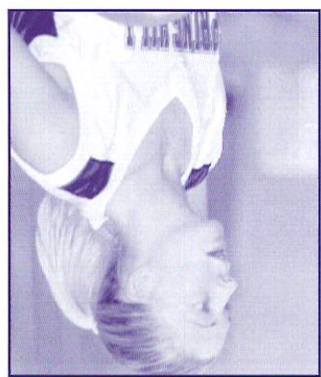

Junior guards Amy Young and Erin Houy will not only see a lot of playing time this year, but Fowler said the experience they gain in 2003-2004 will be invaluable leading into their senior seasons. In addition, Fowler said sophomore guard Marcie McHugh gained valuable experience as a freshman and that he's looking for her to eventually become the GCAC's best point guard.

Looking for direction from the upperclassmen will be freshmen guards Lacey Dickinson (Daphne, Ala.), Maria Rodriguez (Violet, La.), Bridget Baker (Abbeville, Ala.), and Julie Leimone (Houston, Texas) Leimone will be redshirting this season and of the three that will see playing time, Fowler said guidance from the more experienced players will help these freshmen to make the transition from high school to collegiate level basketball.

"Our guards are as good as any in the league," Fowler said. "With one senior and a handful of juniors, we have depth and can play 10 people, but we're still a young team. We have to get it done in practice so mistakes don't show when it's game time."

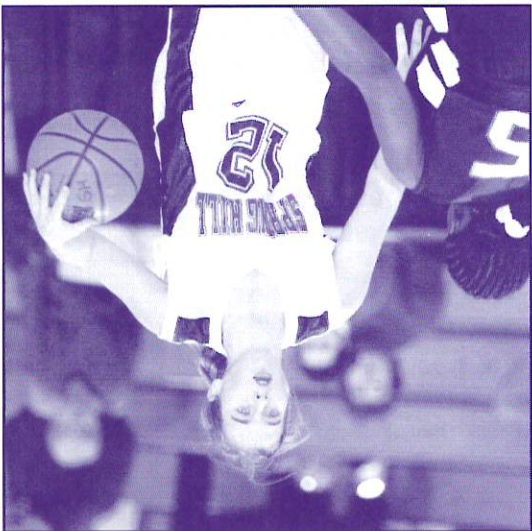

In the Gulf Coast Athletic Conference, the Lady Badgers will again take on familiar conference foes Xavier University, Dillard University, and the University of Mobile, each of which qualified for the NAIA National Tournament last season.

After an adjustment year following his return to the Hill, Fowler, however, won't be content to let another season pass without at least earning a spot in the opening round of the National Tournament.

"I think our girls have a better understanding of me. Of what I expect and what the program expects," Fowler said.

So when Fowler says he's not concerned with the end result for the Lady Badgers this season, you can bet that lack of concern will be evident as his team works to perfect every free throw practiced, every pass made, every weight lifted, every sprint ran and every three point shot on their way to winning a championship trophy.

SEASON PREVIEW

Sights Set on Stellar Season

It might sound like he's contradicting himself when Lady Badger Head Coach Terry Fowler says he's not concerned with the end result of his season but at the same time every weight lifted and every repetition in practice is done to ultimately reach the NAIA National Tournament.

But Fowler and the Lady Badgers know that for a team that returns only one senior and includes seven freshmen, success will never come without maintaining a focus on the day-to-day fundamentals that can make or break a team.

"Preparation is key for us," Fowler said. "We have to know our opponents, be able to break them down, know their tendencies. If we're not doing things the way they should be done along the way, we won't reach our ultimate goal."

The Lady Badgers will find out how well they know their first opponent when they open the season Nov. 7 at home against Southern Poly Tech. The Badgers will follow their home opener with a string of tough non-conference matchups including three teams that qualified for the NAIA National tournament last season—Trevecca Nazarene, Georgetown College, and Auburn-Montgomery. The Lady Badgers will also take on NCAA Division I Lamar University, NCAA Division II University of West Florida, and NCAA Division III Millisaps College.

Fowler says these matchups should provide the challenges his team needs before beginning conference play Jan. 8. "We schedule tough games so we can get an idea of where we're at throughout the season," Fowler said.

"These aren't teams we haven't seen before, but we'll play them as hard as anyone because that's what they'll challenge us to do. No one is going to roll over and just let us win."

Tough competition is something the Lady Badgers are used to, but competition among players to earn and keep their position should add a bit of a spark to the season as well. For the first time in 22 years the Lady Badgers have not returned an all-conference post player. And with five possible candidates vying for a spot down low, including freshmen, neither can afford not to play hard each game.

"There is no margin for error in the post," Fowler said. "We need one or two of our girls to step up and become leaders at these positions. The key will be how quickly they develop."

Juniors Veronica Niter and Megan Pendergast have the most experience in the post and should take on the leadership role Fowler is looking for. Junior Clarissa Cardenas and red-shirt sophomore Tamara Fowler are both expected to bring energy and athleticism to the post as well. Cardenas is making the transition from guard while Fowler is returning from knee surgery. Fowler said his older players will be key in helping freshmen Cate Shields (Nashville, Tenn.), Morgan Eastman (New Orleans, La.), and Lexy Morvant (Thibodaux, La.) adapt to the college game.

While players battle for time in the post, Fowler won't have to worry about the guard positions. In fact, Fowler said having his only senior, Tamara Tilley, at guard, is like having an extension of himself on the court. Last year, Tamara had 7.1 points per game, 4.3 rebounds per game and led the team in assists, with 74.
